

REAL VENTURE

VA System SOP

Your guide to setting up a VA and closing the leads they send you.

How This Works

Your VA cold calls off a pulled list and qualifies sellers for a cash offer. When a seller is interested, the VA texts you the lead in WhatsApp with all the details, and you take it from there - you make the offer and close.

Part 1 - Set Up Your VA System

1. Hire your VA (VA4REI)

- Go to VA4REI and pick a part-time VA to start. (We work closely with this agency and they will take off the $150 startup fee is you say William sent you)
- They'll add you to a WhatsApp group and email you resumes to choose from.
- Once you pick, they put you in a group chat with Alex (the VA manager), your VA, and you.

2. Get your list

- A second group chat is the list puller. Pick Vacant or Vacant + High Equity.
- Pick a county and start with 1,000 records. They'll send the list to you.

3. Set up BatchDialer (do this first)

- Get BatchDialer before your list and VA are ready so your numbers can warm up - to warm numbers, just call yourself out of BatchDialer stay on the line 5–10 minutes each.
- Next, you can give your VA login info, or add your VA under Users (ask them their info to set up their email and password).

4. Campaign rules

- At least 10 numbers per campaign, 50–75 dials per number.
- Use the single-line power dialer only - not the triple-line dialer to start. That is how you get your numbers flagged. Make sure VA leaves a voicemail after each call.

5. VA hours

- Part-time: 3–7 PM in the property's local time zone, plus weekends.
- Full-time: 9 AM – 7 PM.

Having VA Issues? Message Alex (the VA manager) with any VA issues - he's quick to fix things. Still, it's your job to check in and review a call yourself to keep quality up.

Part 2 - Cold Call & Qualifying (your VA's job)

This is the script your VA runs on every call. You don't need to memorize it - you just need to hand it off.

Send your VA the script. Forward them the separate doc,

"Real Venture - VA Cold Call Script." That's their complete playbook - opener, questions, close, voicemail, and daily report. You can also copy-paste the text straight into a message.

Quick view of what your VA does on each call:

- Opener - intro + the all-cash, no-fees, close-as-is pitch.
- Qualify on the 4 pillars - Price, Condition, Motivation, and Timeline (in detail).
- Close the call - ask for photos, check for other properties, and lock in the callback (letting them know your personal number will call).
- Voicemail - left on every no-answer.
- Hand off - text you the lead in WhatsApp, then send an end-of-day report.

Part 3 - Offer & Negotiation (your job)

When your VA qualifies a seller, they'll text you the lead in WhatsApp - the phone number, address, seller's name, and all the call notes. From there, you reach out and make the offer. This part is on you.

This is a delivery call, not a negotiation. Present the offer cleanly, explain the logic, and keep the relationship intact wherever the number lands.

Open the offer call

"Hey (owners name), you spoke with my partner earlier about your property at (address). I'm following up to get the remaining details so we can put an offer together. I just need about five to ten minutes to do so, is now a good time?"

"When we present an offer, it's fully net to you - we cover closing costs and fees, so the number you see is what you'd walk away with. If it lines up, we can usually close within a few weeks."

Make the offer

If it's significantly below asking

1. Pre-frame: "Before I throw out a number, I want to set expectations based on the market and the condition we talked through."
2. Bridge: "When we ran everything, it landed lower than you were hoping for - mainly repairs and resale risk on our end."
3. Deliver: "So the number that makes sense for us is $X."
4. Gauge: "Any room to move closer to that if we close quickly and keep it simple?"

If it's close to asking

1. Align: "Before we go over the number - if the offer makes sense, are you in a position to move forward?"
2. Clarity: "Is anyone else involved in the decision, or is it up to you?"
3. Deliver: "Based on everything we reviewed, our number came in at $X."
4. Anchor: "That's tight to where you were hoping to be, considering we're covering costs and handling everything end to end."
5. Light urgency: "Just being upfront - pricing can shift with the market, so timing matters on our side."

Negotiating

Don't adjust numbers in real time. Create a pause so the decision feels deliberate.

"I hear where you're at. We're not far apart, but I want to be responsible on my end - let me step away for a moment and see if there's any flexibility."

Mute and go "on hold" for 1-2 minutes, then come back:

"Thanks for waiting - good news, I was able to move a bit. The best I can do is $X. Would that work if we keep the rest of the terms the same?"

How it ends

If they say no: "No worries, let's not force it. Why don't we both think it over and reconnect in a couple of days?" Put them on a follow-up sequence - a no today is a maybe later.

If agreement is reached: Reach out to the team and we'll help you write up your contract and send it to the seller.
